

TESS Ripple Tank

Optical experimental teaching instruments stroboscope physical experimental apparatus

- Stroboscope is used to teach physics waves or "slow-motion" presentation of waves
- Parameter control by using the self-explanatory keyboard elements on the device
- Projection on the transparent work table to display the wave images free of distortions
- wave_making water bath vibration and wave circular wave double oscillator reflects double slit interfere different

Experiments can be performed within minutes

